

SCHOOL GYMNASIUM APPROVED

Cameron's five point program of vital needs has been reduced by one with an accomplishment reported last week. The adequate school gymnasium will be built beginning about September 15. This column was careful to say that plans for this unit were well under way. The people owe to these citizens who have wrought so well in this matter, a debt of gratitude. We mention specifically the school board, city government, athletic council and Mr. Perrin, superintendent of the schools.

Progress is made on another vital need listed in the five point program for Cameron. Tuesday night the Chamber of Commerce took cognizance of the plan for a city owned bathing park. The plan is now in the hands of the committee on civic improvements. To this committee will be available the support of many citizens who have expressed a desire to assist in working out this program. Thus it is that we may say much has been done. That much remains to be done, of course, goes without saying. Chief among the immediate needs is the football stadium seats. Without them athletics will be handicapped. With the football season approaching and the Yoemen to play their first game next month all possible speed imperative.

Time and again we have advised readers to beware of get rich quick schemes. While it is natural for most people to want "easy money," there is very little opportunity for the average citizen to cash in without effort. The safe plan is to leave schemes alone and stick to some endeavor with which you are familiar. Karl A. Crowley, solicitor of the Postoffice Department, says that American citizens contribute "several hundred million dollars annually" to swindlers who operate through the mails. The capacity of individuals to bite on worthless and exploded schemes to amass fortunes is amazing. Individuals, ordinarily sane and collected, will spend their money on chances that involve almost impossible tales. Favorite baits are unclaimed riches about to be forfeited, mines in Spain, lost heirs, and such things as oil wells, leases about to expire, and, of recent memory, chain letters. Then there is the community raffle. Honest merchants are sometimes persuaded by pressure from gambling customers who want a chance at the prize, to reduce the standard of their business to offer tickets which in the end are nothing less than lottery and have no place in selling goods.

Peace progress is slow. A little more than 20 years ago the world was on the verge of what many consider its greatest war, but even after the conflict started there were hopeful souls who saw the opportunity to set up effective machinery for peace after the conflict, and some even predicted a peace of "a thousand years" to follow the struggle that began in 1914. Children born in that day are now voting and beginning to assume some of the responsibility that is associated with the right to govern. They find a world in which, apparently, peace has made little progress. Nations continue to carve out empires with the sword and look to armaments for salvation. The present picture is discouraging, but the ideal is not dead. Some day mankind will abolish war with all its brutality. At present, however, it would be very foolish to assume that such a goal is near.

The danger that a permanent army of unemployed will exist in this country is feared by some thinkers, who believe that shorter hours, with increased wages, is necessary to absorb the unemployed and to give the public sufficient buying power to purchase the products of industry. Citizens of Milam county, who expect to vote, might as well consider the problem because its answer affects (See OUR TOWN on page 6)

SWIMMING PARK FOR CITY SOUGHT BY CLUB

The Chamber of Commerce received a suggestion Tuesday night that it actively sponsor a plan to give Cameron a modern bathing park and the matter is now in the hands of the committee on Civic Improvements with John W. Haygood as chairman.

The city government will be asked to exploit the possibilities and if possible to at once take advantage of whatever aid it may obtain from the Public Works Program in Washington.

During recent weeks many citizens have expressed approval of the plan and it was believed certain the city government would be interested in the project if found feasible. A water survey will be necessary to establish the practicability of the plan.

Cameron needs this facility for public entertainments and it was the belief of many that if achieved it would mean many thousands of visitors and a good effect on business in the city. With abundant water available it was thought the project would entail only a small cost to the city both in initial investment as well as in operating expenses. The park would be public.

Gray Veteran, 99, on Way To Reunion Stops in Cameron; Never Used Weed But Has Taken his Toddy all Along

Captain William H. Bristol, 99, is on his way to Amarillo to attend the reunion of Confederate soldiers. Tuesday he stopped in Cameron to rest for the night and transact some business.

He cashed a Confederate pension warrant at the Citizens National Bank and had a two hour talk with Oxsheer Smith, president of the bank. Captain Bristol said that Confederates appreciate the service of the bank in cashing their warrants at a low discount.

Capt. Bristol has never used tobacco in any form but has drunk whiskey all his life, he said. "My jug used to sit by the water bucket and I could have my choice." The Captain

Repeal Leader

Prominent in public affairs and political circles, Mrs. J. M. Loing of Austin, delegate to both the national and the state Democratic conventions, is outspoken against continuation of a "pretense of prohibition" in Texas. "It is a question of whether Texas is to be a 'joke state' and unregulated and untaxed market for liquor or whether it is to return to the sane viewpoint of reaping revenues and controlling the whiskey traffic. Millions of mothers were in a large way responsible for the repeal of the national force prohibition. Surely they all can't be wrong. It is a time for Texans to think and to vote out the Dean Act which has made Texas a haven for bootleggers and distillers," she said.

Counterfeiting In Cameron If Lead Slugs Are Used

Operating marble machines, pay telephones, gum machines or any device so operated, by placing lead nickles or slugs, is a violation of the law and persons may be arrested for counterfeiting.

So widespread has become the practice on the part of thousands to play the machines with phoney money, the United States Secret Service has taken a hand. In Dallas Tuesday Adolph H. Rebutish, in charge of the secret service, warned all persons guilty of this practice.

In Cameron it was said that lead slugs and even pieces of glass are being used to play the machines. Anything but the genuine coin is in violation of the law and the federal government will hold the guilty responsible. Telephone companies are losing thousands of dollars annually in Texas.

Jury Commission Is Named For Term

A jury commission to name a grand jury and petit jurors for the September term of District Court, has been named by Judge W. G. Gillis.

The Commissioners are: P. H. McKinney of Jones Prairie; Lee McLane of Cameron and Joe Slovacek of Buckholts.

LOCAL TEAM LOSES TO SEALS IN SERIES FIRST

The Cameron Knights lost the first game of the three game series with the Seaton Seals Sunday at Seaton. The Seals won the game in the 10th inning when Hub Evans drove in the winning run scoring Pete Hooks who had been placed on base by error. The game had been 10 to 6 in favor of Seaton until the ninth inning when the Caseys started waving their "War Clubs" and went after Joe Stone, the Seaton pitcher, with a shower of hits that netted four runs and tied the score.

Ladis Matula started for the Knights but he was relieved in the third inning by Ted Matula who pitched mighty fine ball allowing the opposing batters only a few scattered hits. Joe Stone hurled nine innings for Seaton. He was relieved by Chupik in the 10th.

Kalenda led the Seaton hitters by four, while Schneider and F. Chupik each got three. Hollis led the Knights with three hits. E. Michalka, Bell and Shorty Matula each got two hits. Bell and Matula getting credit for a three bagger. Frank Ermis got a three bagger on his first trip to the plate when he went in for G. Matula in the 7th inning.

The Knights will meet the Seaton Seals Sunday, the eighteenth in a double header on the Cameron diamond. This promise to be as good an exhibition of baseball as anyone can find in this section of the country.

General Foods Gives Advantages to Little Merchants As Well

Proof that Editorials are read and that they must be scrupulously accurate, comes to hand this week. The Herald printed an expression last week regarding the part food distributors play in allotments to stores for advertising.

The purpose of this expression was to cite the advantages given chain organizations. The question was asked whether local merchants were treated as well.

Through error General Foods was mentioned in this sense of doubt. The publishers are glad to say to the readers of this newspaper that General Foods Corporation is just as liberal in allowances to the small merchants as to the chains. In all there are 17 such great distributing agencies for foodstuffs and it was unfortunate that the one among the most liberal was cited. General Foods Corporation has always been liberal with small merchants and in Cameron today is playing a big part in the advertising volume for all stores.

Last year General Foods allowance shows 80 per cent of the total to local merchants and 20 per cent to chains.

ADULT TEACHERS TO SCHOOL IN AUSTIN

Teachers for adult education in Milam County are now attending school in Austin. These courses are provided by the government and make available teachers to bring education within reach of adults beyond the school limit.

This system of teaching was inaugurated by the government last year and has resulted in opportunities being brought to many who had no educational advantages.

There are 29 available teachers in the county for this work. Among those attending the course at Austin are Mrs. Vada Walters, Cameron; Mrs. N. R. Harrison, San Gabriel; Mrs. Eunice Varner, Milano; Ruth Fisher, Hanover; Mrs. Mary Cummings, San Gabriel; Harley Modisette and Geo. Leath, Cameron; Roberta Robertson, Davilla; Mrs. B. Roads, Friendship; Mrs. W. A. Barrett, Milano and three colored teachers.

ATTACK RECRUITING OFFICERS

Boston.—When an alleged recruiting officer tried to persuade two Negro women to make their husbands fight for Ethiopia, the husbands opened hostilities on the Ethiopian advocate. In the melee one husband was seriously stabbed.

Notice from Washington that plans for a Gymnasium had been approved was received last Wednesday by E. A. Perrin, superintendent of Cameron Schools. The approval made by President Roosevelt was made known in a telegram from Congressman O. H. Cross and Senator Connally.

It is estimated by Mr. Perrin that work would be started in September. The building is to be erected near the Yoe High school building and funds available for its construction are to come from government aid and from city support.

Plans for the needed school enterprise have been pending with the Washington allocation board for some time. The local school board, the city government and the athletic council, of which Mr. Perrin is a member, have been actively backing the project.

The building and its equipment will insure wide use by the local schools as well as rural schools during heavy athletic season featuring basketball. The building is to be known as physical education and vocational unit. A stage for plays and dramatic education together with space for home economics classes will be provided.

The approval of this project was a direct compliment to the aggressive school leadership of Mr. Perrin whose program has sought the best in educational facilities for Cameron.

There is pending before the allocation board at Austin now a project which if granted will insure other improvements. It provides for painting the wood work and auditorium of the high school, painting of the Ada Henderson school and painting of the negro school. It provides for painting of the Mexican school also.

Most important in this project will be the football stadium seats and 4 rooms added to the negro school. Curbing about the Yoe High School and Ada Henderson school, pecan trees about the athletic field and the negro school and high school and resurfacing the tennis court.

TWO HELD IN THEFT OF SADDLES HERE

Two stolen saddles were recovered and a man and woman arrested in connection with them by Sheriff R. M. Kennedy and Deputy Sheriff Clarence McCall, during the past few days.

Bill Merchant of Milam county was arrested and placed in jail and held here for Alvin officers, who came Sunday and took him back to Alvin, where the saddles were stolen.

Merchant confessed to officers as being one of three implicated in the stealing of the saddles from a dairyman near Alvin August 2. Merchant had come to Cameron and sold both of the saddles.

Sheriff Kennedy stated that while Merchant was in jail a woman, Wilis Brisby forged the name of Mrs. B. M. Merchant to a bill of sale to collect the balance of money from a local man for one of the saddles. The woman was arrested and charged with forgery.

Merchant has a wife and several children near Cameron.

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

UTILITIES AND FARMS WAR ON THE TARIFF BOTH PARTIES PLEDGED ODDS AND ENDS

Apparently the jog of electrifying the farms of the United States is to be left to the private utility corporations, backed by Federal financing, if one is to believe a recent statement by Morris Cooke, REA administrator, who pointed out that 95 per cent of the present electrical business is in the hands of the corporations and that rural service will be in about the same proportion.

We call this to the attention of readers so that, where it is feasible, farmers will take steps to organize to build their own lines. Under the low interest rates of the Federal policy, something like twenty years will be allowed for re-payment of the loans, and after that time the lines will belong to the borrower.

Agriculturists continue to level their spears against the protective tariff although farmers in one western community boycotted a mill which had secured an injunction against the processing tax, with the result that the mill asked that the injunction be removed.

Personally, we have no idea what will happen to the farm program if taxes are declared invalid. Of course present farm contracts are good and the government will undoubtedly carry them out, but whether any future payments can be counted upon is doubtful, in our minds, if the money for the benefits has to come out of the general treasury fund.

Incidentally, an anti-tariff resolution has been introduced in both houses of Congress by Senator Murphy and Representative Biermann of Iowa. This would authorize the President to reduce tariffs if processing taxes are declared invalid in proportion to the cut in farm income that would result from loss of the processing taxes.

Suits testing the tariff, it appears certain, have little ground upon which to succeed. Years ago the Supreme Court put its stamp of approval upon protective tariffs, according to an opinion given by Seth Thomas, AAA general counsel.

Farmers face no immediate danger and possibly none at all, however, because both political parties are indelibly pledged to relieve agriculture. Unless some workable program is found to replace the present system it is extremely doubtful if any party will permit the farmers to go through the same experiences that plagued them a few years ago. Regardless of what the Court decides and which party is in power the interests of the farmer will be looked after for a while at least, but if the farmer forgets to make his voice heard in the land he can expect to be ignored by the politicians. The point is that very farmer should let his Congressman know what he thinks about the agricultural situation and what the government should do about it.

The President has allotted $12,000,000, to the Forest Service for the purpose of taking land out of cultivation and developing it for other uses.

The AAA reports that 27,600,000 acres of rented or contracted land has been shifted from "surplus" crops of corn, wheat, tobacco and cotton, and that one-third of the land has been planted to crops to conserve and improve the soil.

Gross income of farmers from 1934 production is estimated at $7,300,000,000 by the Agriculture Department, an increase of $900,000,000 over 1933 and $2,000,000,000 over 1932. Gross income includes value of crops grown for sale and those consumed on the farms.

Loans on small grains stored in bins, sealed on the farm, will be made by the Farm Credit Administration in the Omaha Land Bank District. This will cut the carrying cost and enable farmers to hold grain for better markets.

The Federal Land Banks are now lending cash on farm mortgages, instead of some bonds and part cash. An improved market for Federal Farm Market bonds made it possible to put the loans on a cash basis.

New wheat reduction contracts provide a 15 per cent reduction in acreage for 1936. A four year contract is to be offered with a maximum acreage adjustment of 25 per cent in subsequent years.

Walter Johnson was finally forced to resign as leader of the Cleveland Indians after taking the raps from the press and fans of that city off and on for the past two years. The Big Train's removal by the end of the season, at the latest, was apparent, but Sir Walter decided to hurry things up a bit and declared himself out early this month. He will finish his contract as a scout.

Johnson has been besieged with injuries to members of the club since before the start of the current campaign. It was just unlucky for him that the fans and papers decided to blame him for the accidents that have befallen his charges. The thing that has made it unusually tough for him, however, was the lengths to which the players went to get themselves laid up. Not that we believe they were purposeful, understand, but that doesn't take away from the peculiar circumstances surrounding their various aches and pains.

For example, after Bill Knickerbocker was taken to a hospital with a boni-fide case of acute appendicitis, Ralph Winegarner, counted upon to add strength to the pitching and pinch-hitting staffs, contracted tularmia (rabbit's disease) after going on a rabbit hunting expedition, and was forced from the lineup for an extensive period. Frankie Pytlak, promising first string catcher, was attacked for the second time in two years by a mysterious stomach malady that baffled physicians, and he has hung up his uniform for the remainder of the present campaign.

Pitcher Clint Brown was injured when, immediately following a game in Cleveland, particles of dirt flew into his eyes as a result of an exploding firecracker thrown toward the Indian dugout. It is more than probable that he will return to the pitching staff of the club next year with but the sight of one eye, though eye specialists have in no way, they say, given up hope for the restoration of sight in the injured optic. Earl Averill was a little too brave on a picnic when he was holding a firecracker in his hand, and as a result he was away from the team three weeks with a badly burned set of fingers on his throwing hand.

Oral Hildbrand, a hurler, was taken ill with insomnia and was forced to leave the club for a period of several weeks. Then Monte Pearson, another pitcher, took the cake by going to sleep on the roof of a hotel in Philadelphia. The result of that escapade was the confinement of Monte to hotels with sunburn during the remainder of the series in Philly and the following one in Washington.

Second only to Washington's 1934 injuries, the Cleveland squad has been one of the unluckiest ball clubs of the past several years. Manager O'Neill who succeeded Johnson, will put pep into the club, it is true, but he will have to be watching out for pink tooth brush and like for the remainder of the year.

Frank Starfacci, young Brooklyn High School student, took the National Public Golf Links title this year by setting down Joe Coria, St. Paul policeman, in the finals. Both the title winner of 1934 and the runner-up of that year were defeated comparatively early in the matches. Dave Mitchell, the defending champ, going down in the third round, and Arthur Armstrong, runner up last year, losing out a round later.

Following Babe Ruth's announcement that he may enter the National Amateur golf tourneys comes the old eligibility question again. It will be remembered that another Babe (Miss Didrikson) was forced out of a women's battle several weeks ago because the U. S. G. A. sustained a protest of her eligibility. Miss Didrikson was declared ineligible because of professional participation in other sports. If the same body is again forced to a similar decision, and the cases of the two babes are very much alike, we can't see how a different decision as to eligibility can be handed down. The Babe (Ruth) has been much more professionally engaged in athletics other than golf than Miss Didrikson.

Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee has just about realized that to defeat the British yachts over here is quite a different thing from racing the English in English waters. The Yankee has failed to live up to his expectations in its races overseas, and at the same time T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour, which encountered so much trouble in America last fall, has been winning a good proportion of the races.

Dan O'Mahony (yes Dan spells it without the e) became absolute ruler of the wrestling world recently in defeating Ed Don George at Boston. The match ended in a near riot, with Referee Heavy Boxing Champ Jimmy Braddock being forced to floor George to defend himself against an onrush. The final decision, after George failed to return to the ring within the required time, stuck, however and took away all the claims of George for the world title.

Getting back to baseball, with the season two thirds over and the Chisox and Reds still far from the cellar positions predicted for them at the start of the season, it's about time that the two clubs were analyzed in a second with a right hook in order this column so that we, as well as any reader who may happen to run his eye across the column will know just how and why these two squads are playing the ball that has kept them consistently on the necks of the leaders.

The Reds, of course, are not so high in standings, only a notch or two above the cellar, but when it is remembered that Larry McPhail's team is practically nothing but first year rookies, the realization follows that it really is remarkable the way the low rated boys are able to knock off the big shots of the loop at crucial times. Chuck Dressen has a group of first year boys, including Goodman, Riggs, Meyers (already made field captain), Kampouris, Campbell, Erickson, and Sullivan, who, each realizing that he isn't the only rookies on the squad, are playing together with the true pep and confidence of champions.

A table of analysis, showing the comparison in team records in early August this year with that of the same period in 1934, shows that the youngsters are not hasty at the plate but are fast in fielding and on the bases.

Hitting	last	Sixth
Runs scored	last	Sixth
Total hits	last	Sixth
Total bases	last	Third
2 base hits	last	Fourth
3 base hits	fourth	Fourth

The White Sox, sticking fast onto the heels of the junior loop leaders, have proved to be a group of well-balanced players in many departments. The squad combines the experience of age with the speed and aggressiveness of youth, and the excellent coaching of the rooks by Manager Jimmie Dykes is also an all-important factor. When the pitching bogged down, the hitters have risen to the occasion with base blows enough to offset the number the opposing side has garnered from the sox pitchers. At the same time the hurling, led by John Whitehead and Ted Lyons, has usually stepped in when the hitting showed signs of slowing up.

Chalk up one error for Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, who called the Chisox a 1,000-1 bet and the Reds a 100-1 chance at their respective flags in April. We imagine, however, that Doyle wasn't the only one fooled, including Messrs. Dressen and Dykes.

Judge Emil Fuchs, after ten years of tough luck in trying to make a go of it, was finally forced to turn over his majority shares in the Boston Braves to Charles F. Adams, vice president. The retiring president tried hard enough, no doubt about that, but the Braves never got anywhere in the race, and are still going nowhere quite rapidly, which hasn't helped matters at all. Even the Ruth experiment fell through, proving that some of the soundest of Fuchs' ideas did not turn out as per schedule. Maybe a new owner can do better. Let's hope so, for the Braves need help badly.

Miss Ruby Lengert Becomes the Bride of Arthur Hutton in Marlin Wedding Saturday

The marriage of Miss Ruby Lengert of Cameron to Arthur Hutton of Temple, came as a surprise to friends in Cameron. The wedding took place Saturday night, August 10th at Marlin in the home of Rev. Dallasite, pastor of the Baptist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Otto Lengert of Rockdale. Miss Lengert was reared and educated in Rockdale and later attended a commercial college, for several years was secretary for the Hens & Meyer Hardware store here in Cameron. Later she was employed in the McLane Wholesale Grocery store and for the past few years has been secretary at the Citizens National Bank in Cameron. Miss Lengert was handsomely attired in a navy blue sheer crepe costume with accessories to match. She is popular with a large circle of friends in Cameron and her home in Rockdale.

The bridegroom is a young business man, having been with the Service Equipment Company of Dallas, with headquarters in Temple where they will make their home after a few days honeymoon trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Braun of Milano accompanied the couple to Marlin and witnessed the ceremony, followed with a dinner in the Falls hotel.

A ready furnished apartment awaits the bride upon their return to Temple.

DR. REED VISITING HERE TALKS OF OLD TIMES

Dr. V. E. H. Reed of Austin has been visiting relatives in Cameron.

Dr. Reed played an important part in the early history of Cameron. He was a physician here for ten years, was Milam County's first health officer and the first secretary to the Milam County Medical Association.

Dr. Reed was born in Bell county in 1859. When he was ten years of age he came to visit Cameron. The Yankee soldiers were quartered in Cameron and Dr. Reed said he was very much afraid of them, but finally became acquainted and played croquet with them.

Dr. Reed attended school in Cameron and was also a student of the now extinct Davilla Masonic Institute. He studied medicine in the Missouri Medical College. Dr. Reed was postmaster here under Cleveland's administration.

While here Dr. Reed mentioned several humorous incidents of his life in Cameron. Even back in those days, they had jail breaks. He told of a jail break here in which a woman helped a prisoner escape.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Avriett and Family Move To Austin

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Avriett and family left Monday for Austin where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Avriett is employed by the Board of Control at State Capitol.

Many friends in Cameron regret to learn of their departure, but good wishes accompany them to their newly chosen home. Mr. Avriett was for many years a grocery merchant in Cameron. For 16 years he was auditor for Milam county, and was active in civic affairs. He served as active vice president of the First National Bank, Cameron for a number of years.

Mrs. Avriett, a native of Cameron, has always been a popular social hostess; the daughter of the late Capt. A. J. Lewis who served his country as Sheriff of Milam County for a number of years. She is also active in all church affairs of the Presbyterian church. Their children, Giles, Jr., and Jack and little Don Marie, will be missed by their many friends in Cameron. Giles Jr., was a student at State University last year and will return this fall. By his splendid record and grades made while freshman last year, he has been made by his Math teacher, "a grader assistant" in the university this fall term. Jack will be a freshman at State this fall.

Cameron friends of the family will be waiting to welcome their return visits in the future.

Mrs. J. L. Clinton and daughter, Miss Lola Clinton, of Houston, and Mrs. Winnie Wittliff, spent the week end in Corpus Christi with relatives.

MOTHER! don't experiment with your

Child's Cold

Rebun VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

PIONEER MINISTER IS BURIED IN HUNTSVILLE

Rev. T. S. Williford, 85, died Monday, August 12th, at his home in Huntsville at 9:30 o'clock. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with interment in Huntsville.

Rev. Williford was the father of Mrs. J. T. Baldwin of Cameron, who was at the bedside when the pioneer minister died.

For 30 years he had been a member of the Methodist Texas Conference and was superannuated several years ago after his health became so poor he was unable to continue his work.

Surviving him are his widow, two sons, W. H. and A. H. Williford of Huntsville, four daughters, Mrs. J. T. Baldwin of Cameron, Mrs. L. B. Baldwin of Huntsville, Mrs. J. H. Yelverton of River Side, Mrs. R. L. Valentine, of San Benito and one brother, Ed Williford of Fairview.

J. T. Baldwin and family of Cameron attended the funeral Tuesday afternoon.

MEETS HIM IN COURT

Fort Smith, Ark.—Charged with drunken driving, the defendant in municipal court stared at the judge. He was the man he accused of cursing. He got $110 and 90 days, although the court assured him that "the incident had nothing to do with it."

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Green celebrated their 23rd wedding anniversary at the home Wednesday August 14th with a four course dinner. The home was in floral adornment where pink and green were the chosen colors, featuring the pink and ferns.

The dining room was especially pleasing with its snowy napery and shining silver where a delightful four course dinner was served in faultless style.

Cameron relatives and out of town relatives were: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schaudies of Port Isabel and their two daughters, Misses Mary Alice and Bernice and one son Albert; Mrs. Cooper Schaudies and daughter, Miss Virginia, and two sons, Cooper, Jr., and Jesse Pike of La Grange, Georgia; Mrs. J. P. Gott of Marlin, mother of Mrs. Green; Judge and Mrs. Carroll Pearce and two children Estelle and Jeannene of Marlin were present for the occasion.

every man, woman and child in the United States. Certainly the use of productive machinery should not become the engine of slavery for millions of workers but rather the liberator of mankind from the burden of prolonged toil.

Scientific approximations of the age of the earth, the solar system, and the star galaxy are exceedingly interesting, although, because based upon certain assumptions, there are wide differences. Three principal methods are relied upon by these speculators. One estimates geologic time by sedimentation. Another relies upon radioactive disintegration. Another is based on charges of the temperature and elastic properties of the earth.

The age of the earth, according to Dr. Hobbey D. Evans, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, lies between 1,850 and 3,500 million years. The ages of 23 iron meteorites, which came to the ground, some from outside our solar system, ran up to 2,800 million years. These estimates are based upon the radioactive clock. The geologists measuring the sedimentation of great rivers during known periods and calculating how many years it required to build up land areas now existent, only venture to go back as far as the Cambrian period, which they say was about 750 million years ago. This coincides fairly nicely with the estimate of the same period according to the radioactive method.

What War Does To Credit

Just what war does to a nation's credit is apparent when it is noted that in January Italian 7 per cent bonds were selling in New York at 83. The other day, with thousands of Italian soldiers ready to march thru Ethiopia, if nothing stops them, the bonds of the Italian government were selling for a fraction above 64. There is no telling what they will be selling for after the warfare has been under way for about six months.

Mothers, Watch the Diet

The housewives, and particularly the mothers, of Cameron probably do not realize the important function they exercise in planning and controlling the food of those who depend upon them. Diet is no fad and it is high time that its importance should be recognized everywhere.

Mothers and fathers should be very careful to provide proper food for their children, whose physical conditions should be accurately checked to discover any weakness. Long life seems to be the aim of most people and it is interesting to observe that recent experiments indicate a definite relation between diet and longevity.

While it is practically impossible to study the dietary schedules of a person for an entire life the thing has been done with rats. Allowing for the fact that rats live about one-thirtieth as long as men it is reasonable to presume that the nutritional principal established by experimentation may, with a degree of probability, apply to men and other species as well.

In a recent study rats were divided into two groups, one of which received an adequate diet of wheat and milk while the other group was given a higher proportion of milk. This second group lived, on an average, 10 per cent longer, which is a gain of some significance, and possible of betterment by a more improved nation.

The point ought to be obvious to parents wishing long life for their children. Not only does food play a large part in the proper physical development of the child, but it seems it will also give the body necessary strength to add years to existence, which is surely worth while.

What Puzzles Us

We can understand the attitude of those citizens who wish the United States to become a member of the League of Nations and thus take a part in regulating the peace of the world.

We can also understand the position of those citizens who insist that the United States attend to its own business and keep out of foreign entanglements.

What we can't understand is the attitude of those citizens who want us to keep out of foreign wars, troubles and conflicts and, at the same time, want us to investigate Italy's treatment of Ethiopia, Germany's treatment of the Jews and Catholics and Mexico's attitude and behavior towards Catholics.

Certainly we do not condone the mistreatment to which the people of these faiths have been treated in the matters referred to. Neither for that matter do we condone the barbarity of the Turks to the Christians during the hectic days after the World War, or the attitude of Japan to the Chinese in China. However, what business has the United States to tell the Germans, the Mexicans or any other people, how they shall operate in their own country. It is not our business to regulate Russian affairs in order to protect the peasants in that country, if they need protection.

Of course, it is barely possible that we have the wrong idea. Perhaps, it is our national function to investigate everything that happens, condemn what we don't like, break off diplomatic relations and do everything that we can on this side of the line to show our displeasure over the way other people run their countries. Maybe, we are wrong. Instead of it being the United States of America, with well-defined borders, the title may be The United States of America, with sidelines all over the world whenever we have time to attend to outside business.

Involves Racial Troubles

A phase of Mussolini's venture into Ethiopia that is receiving some attention by other government involves the possibility of decided racial repercussions not only in Africa but in other parts of the world. The cold-blooded manner in which the Italian Dictator is planning the Italian advance gives ample time for the news to travel and sentiment among lesser peoples is gradually mounting against all white races.

The treatment of Ethiopia by the other powers, coupled with the practical boycott on war supplies by other nations, leaves an unpleasant impression.

If the Ethiopians, ill-equipped with modern means of warfare, manage to surprise the world by slowing the Italian advance, the possibility is that other subject peoples will take heart and cause trouble.

Wall Paper Made Easier

Wall paper manufacturers in convention in New York have displayed for the benefit of the present generation samples of wall coverings in the mood of the nineties of sacred memory but with the cruelty left out. There must be many samples of that cruder age in wall paper still left for inspection, especially in furnished rooms of the fortnight type in which youth ascends in the journey through life. But Modernity has laid its hand even on that survival.

It was the era of the cabbage rose, the "border" to match. It was the heyday of reds and greens and eventually tarnished gold, with "folding doors" separating front parlor from back parlor, both turned to utilitarian pursuits. The cabbage rose has returned, but stripped of its virulence. It has become a pastel shade, soothing to the eye. The hall bedroom, once an abode of wretchedness, of ambition or decadence, has been neutralized. Wall paper design-

Standing In Bowling League

Cameron inter-city league has had very close games for the past two weeks. There is every indication that the newly formed "V" Eight team who took the place of the old T. P. & L. Team will move into second place this next week. The "V" Eight team

Team	Games Won	Games Lost	Games Tied	Aver.
Cheever Cheesers	19	4	1	.812
Metropolitans	13	8		.619
Ford "V" Eight	12	11	1	.512
Palace of Sweets	11	12	1	.479
Santa Fe Towners	10	11		.476
Cameron Mutuals	13	16	1	.450
Post Office	9	11	1	.428
Night Owls	7	17		.291

The "500" Club has a new member in W. O. Triggs who bowls 504.

The best match bowled during the tournament was played the past week by the Ford "V" Eight team, when they scored a total of 1994 pins against the Night Owls who scored 1910 pins.

ing has become "sane" in tone and fruition. Even the bunches of intensely purple grapes have become milder and the clusters of leafage are less violent in demeanor. As for the gold trimmings, they disappeared, to no one's loss.

Assumption is fair that the carpets of that strenuous day also have become subdued, to the gain of the aesthetic. It is possible for those of more tender age to recall green roses and other horrors. If even a green cabbage rose has become, in the new wall paper, a tenderly vernal thing acceptable to restless sleepers, it is a step ahead. Let us properly venerate the past, but extract the bitterness from the draught. This seems to have been done, to the credit of the kinder generation.

Lives of A Cow

Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, wants the government to return the cows that it bought from Dakota farmers last year and killed when the pastures were burned by the drought. The farmers now have an abundance of feed, he says.

The senator's idea has always been diverting, to say the least, but how many lives does he think a cow has?

A Harvard professor says he can trace no improvement in man since the glacial age. In fact, as a whole, Harvard teams have rather deteriorated.

A range weather prophet predicts more and worse floods next year. "Don't change floesman in high water" might prove a winning slogan in 1936.

The sturdy founders who gathered under the broiling sun to sign the declaration left political descendants who can't endure a Washington July in air-conditioned bars.

Only 159 years after the founders raised a cry against taxation without representation, it is figured that the alimony paid in this country in a year would have financed the revolution.

Another Pacific Game

A few months ago the United States fleet engaged in extensive war games in the Eastern half of the Pacific Ocean.

Now the Japanese navy, almost two hundred warships, is engaged in its war game in the Pacific, against an imaginary foe menacing the Empire from the northeast.

Both fleets are practicing for what their leaders think will face them in the next few years.

Effective, Defective

It is still impossible to do anything about the weather, but as a result of the research and imagination of Dr. David R. Morris, junior metro-logist in charge of the weather bureau in Central Park, New York, it is possible to talk about it better than before. Dr. Morris has enriched the meteorological language with "effective temperature," a new term meaning a certain combination of the elements.

The team standing to date is as follows:

Team	Games Won	Games Lost	Games Tied	Aver.
Cheever Cheesers	19	4	1	.812
Metropolitans	13	8		.619
Ford "V" Eight	12	11	1	.512
Palace of Sweets	11	12	1	.479
Santa Fe Towners	10	11		.476
Cameron Mutuals	13	16	1	.450
Post Office	9	11	1	.428
Night Owls	7	17		.291

The Night Owls were forced to call off two matches this last week and it is hoped that they will be able to play those during this week which will add to the already scheduled matches on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

logist in charge of the weather bureau in Central Park, New York, it is possible to talk about it better than before. Dr. Morris has enriched the meteorological language with "effective temperature," a new term meaning a certain combination of the elements.

He explains that the effect of hot weather upon the human body and the human mind depends upon the proportion in which heat, humidity and the winds are mixed together. Low temperature offsets high humidity. Breezes may make a sticky day seem less sticky. It follows that with high humidity and lack of a breeze a day with a maximum temperature of 90 degrees may be as oppressive as one with a temperature of 100 without the humidity and with the breeze. And so there are, still, conditions in which it is appropriate to blame the humidity rather than the heat. And sometimes blame both.

No Escape

When Edward Everett Hale wrote "The Man Without a Country" he failed to make it plain whether Nolan escaped the tax collectors by living his life at sea. It may have been that in the happy days when Dr. Hale wrote his improving tale (to the boundless joy of pedagogues the world over) taxes did not play the serious part in the business of living that they do now. A man could carry on a profitable business, live in a good house and hardly be conscious of the tax-gatherer. He would dismiss the idea of an income tax as decidedly unconstitutional.

Now we are under another dispensation, and the time may come when we shall all be driven to sea to escape being stripped bare by the tax-gatherer. At any rate, that seems to be the growing practice in England. Only lately an Englishman engaged three consecutive passages between London and Brisbane, Australia. He will be at sea a round year and he reckons that, even making allowance for his fares, he will spend less than if he stayed ashore and lived in a house and paid his rates and taxes.

About Honesty and Sense

As we understand it, Mr. E. P. Cramer, utility stockholder, wanted to restore "common honesty and common sense" in Washington thru a "whispering campaign" designated to create the belief that the President is crazy.

The suggestion is not creditable to the honesty of Brother Cramer and the fact that he got caught is not circulated to increase the rating of his mentality.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

A CONCECRATED MAN
International Sunday School Lesson
for August 25, 1935

GOLDEN TEXT—"He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith."—Acts 11:24.
(Lesson Text—Acts 4:36, 37; 11:19-30)

John Ruskin, who was born rich, made an independent fortune, and then used it all to the uplifting of humnaity, defined true wealth as follows:

"There is no wealth but life—life including all its powers of love, of joy, of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy beings. That man is the richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others."

"Barnabas is one of those minor characters of Scripture," properly reflects W. W. Mackay, "who at once gain and lose by his proximity to a greater figure. He gains doubtless much from his relation to the gigantic figure of Paul, for it was in company with him that his best work was done. And yet, perhaps, he suffers more; for the friend with whom he walks is so colossal that we forget all when we see him. A mountain in Scotland would be a hillock in Switzerland."

Barnabas first comes to our attention when he sold his property and laid the proceeds at the feet of the apostles in Jerusalem to alleviate the suffering of the poor. "The generosity of that deed is measured not by what he gave, but by what he left," says Mackay. "Generosity is not a sum in addition but a sum in subtraction. Barnabas is the man of generosity, not only because he gave much, but because that much was his all." The same reason justified Jesus' high praise of the widow who contributed her mite, ranked higher than the rich and wealthy who only gave of what they had, retaining much more.

We next see Barnabas as the friend and sponsor of Saul. After persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem this Pharisee had set out for Damascus, and on the way had been converted.

After three years in the Arabian wilderness Paul created so much dissention by his zeal in Damascus that he had to flee for his life. When he turned up in Jerusalem a professing Christian, those who remembered his former hostility refused to accept him as sincere. Barnabas upheld his integrity of purpose, vouched for him, and brought him into the presence of Peter and James.

"Barnabas staked all his good name in Jerusalem and all his influence with the apostles," says Alexander Whyte, "on the genuineness of Saul's conversion and on the sincerity and integrity of his discipleship. Barnabas stood by Saul until he had so turned the tide in Paul's favor that, timid as Peter was, he actually took Saul to lodge with him in his own house in Jerusalem. Very soon it will be the greatest honor to any house on the face of the earth to entertain the Apostle Paul. But no proud householder of them all can ever steal this honor from Barnabas that he was the first man of influence and responsibility who opened his heart and his house to the Apostle when all Jerusalem was still casting stones at him."

Later, to the mother of the church at Jerusalem, came news of Greeks being admitted to the church at Antioch. Barnabas was sent to investigate. He stood high in church councils. "That his introduction had been regarded as sufficient voucher for Saul's discipleship shows that he was high in the confidence of the church at Jerusalem and this further indicated by the fact that he was now sent alone on a mission of such responsibility. As a Capriote, he would also command the confidence of his countrymen who had been leaders in the new departure, while as a Levite, he would be able to appreciate Hebrew prejudices. As a Hellenist, he had qualifications which none of the Twelve possessed, being prepared by his training not only to sympathize with the movement but to understand its importance." Thus does Wm. Furneaz sum up his qualifications.

At Antioch Barnabas saw the way open for a great work. He went to Tarsus to bring Saul back for the labor ahead. This was a big act, Alexander Whyte says: "To have the heart to discover a more talented man than yourself, and then have the heart to go to Tarsus for him, and to make way for him in Antioch, is far better than to have all Saul's talents, and all the praise and all the rewards of those talents to yourself. Speaking for myself, I would far rather have a little of Barnabas's grace than all Saul's genius. Give me Barnabas' self-forgetful heart, and let who will undertake Saul's so extraordinary, but so perilous, achievements." And, so the first great missionary journey of Saul and Barnabas sailed to Cyprus, thence northward to Asia, and the great westward march of Christianity began. Barnabas accompanied Paul on the first journey, returning to Antioch with him. On the second journey the two great leaders disagreed over whether Barnabas's nephew, John Mark, should go, and Barnabas stood by his nephew just as he had spoken for Saul in Jerusalem. Because of this difference the missionary leaders parted. Barnabas went to Cyprus, for how long we do not know. Tradition says he remained there until his death and some think that Mark's union with Paul came when Barnabas died.

ADMIRAL BYRD SICK

Keep a Good Laxative —always in your home

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on. . . "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family ought to have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Hicks, of Belton, Texas. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results." Sold in 25-cent packages.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN"
THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip — to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. The Ford V-8 gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

What Price Machinery?

"Power-propelled machinery has already sent thousands of tenant farmers scurrying to overcrowded cities, only to find that machinery has displaced men in all industries. Within the next decade, if nothing is done toward regulating the use of machinery, small land owners and tenant farmers will be driven to the wall. They can not compete with big farmers who use power-propelled machinery. The difference in production cost will be so great that the little fellow will be swamped and crushed."

Thus does George W. Winningham, the militant farmer-journalist of Limestone county, who retired from the legislature rather in disgust last year after serving two terms, view with alarm. He has picked a big subject for his plaid, putting his finger on the spot where all the pain of our modern economic troubles seems to center. But his statement is not a revelation; many others have pointed out the problem. The question is, what are you going to do about it?

"If nothing is done toward regulating the use of machinery . . ." he says. Does this mean restricting or prohibiting the use of modern machinery—saying by law, "You must use horse-drawn implements instead of motorized cultivators, harvesters and combines"? That would be retrogressive, contrary to the natural laws of progress. It can not solve the problem. Such a system would only stifle the inventive spirit which has been the means of lifting the world from darkness toward light. China is perhaps the outstanding exemplar of antiquated agriculture today. Do we want America to be like China?

Machinery is man's best friend. If he is to advance to greater heights of enlightenment, it must be thru the development and use of more machinery. The problem that it presents is that of bringing together more producers and consumers of machinery's products, finding and developing more markets and adjusting and facilitating trade. These steps will create more manual as well as machine labor. Shorter shifts will provide still more. But no complete solution of the problem is as yet in sight. It remains for thinkers like George Whittington to work out.

As for the threat to the small farmer, he will have to fight out his own salvation, with whatever governmental assistance he can get. The production of the machines may be prorated, to stabilize prices, but the machines themselves are here to stay; so the little fellows may as well gird themselves to meet the competition. And under the spur of necessity they can go a long way toward doing it, through industry, thrift, diversification, improved methods and co-operation. Most farmers are able to buy automobiles; why couldn't a lot of them buy farm tractors as well?

The government is now helping farmers in various ways. Artificially pegged prices enable the little fellows to produce profitably, but this can not go on long. In its place there must be some adjustment of foreign trade conditions to equalize the price the farmer receives for his products with the price he has to pay for the now-protected manufactured goods.

This is the transcendent problem of the farmer, and its solution calls for more than the regulation of machinery.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

"F. O." (Food Odor)

DOES YOUR REFRIGERATOR PREVENT IT?

Foods have their pride. Butter, cream and milk do not willingly absorb the flavors of onions, bananas, cantaloupes, cucumbers and cabbage. They can't help themselves—when the air around them is full of strong odors.

BUT—when foods are left UNCOVERED and are given WASHED-AIR refrigeration—with ICE—that's a different story! Then—each food retains only its OWN flavor! BECAUSE—the air is constantly WASHED and PURIFIED! Conflicting odors are removed! FRESH, MOIST, COLD air, always circulating over foods, keeps them in their NATURAL, healthful condition!

Ask your Ice Service Man about the NEW Ice Refrigerators—the ONLY kind that gives you clean, pure, WASHED-AIR refrigeration!

Louisa's Letter

WIFE HAS PROBLEM IN YOUNG GIRL VISITOR

Dear Louisa:

About a year ago an old friend of mine asked me to take her daughter into my home as she was being transferred to our home town and knew no one here. I've never had a boarder and it was a real sacrifice in many ways for me to take this girl in.

However, we found her very agreeable and for my old friend's sake I was glad to put up with some inconveniences. A problem has arisen, now and I am in a quandary. Jane, our guest is a very quiet type and doesn't seem to have the knack of making friends with people of her own age. She apparently adores my husband and flatters him and hangs around him most of the time. I don't think my husband realizes that he is the object of so much affection but he does enjoy being flattered. Would you pay no attention to this or would you ask the girl to leave? I really can't decide whether there is anything to be worried about or not.

ALMA S.

Answer:

As some one has aptly said, we guard everything we value except our husbands. If we think some one is trying to make off with the silverware we do everything we can to protect it and keep it, but if some one is trying to steal our husband or wife from under our noses we call it sportmanship to get out of the way and give them a clear field.

In your case, Alma, the girl is probably one who has had no male attention and is just enjoying the companionship of a nice, pleasant gentleman for the first time in her life. I doubt, seriously, if there is really anything to be worried about, but on the other hand an outsider disrupts one's family life. Just the mere fact of having someone always on hand is annoying. There are things that come up in every family that a husband and wife prefer to discuss without an audience. A harsh word or a sharp tone is forgotten much quicker if no one else hears it.

There is always the danger, if a man thinks he is misunderstood by his wife, of having someone near who is only too anxious to sympathize with him.

If I were you I would make no issue of the matter at all. I most certainly would not let either of the other parties dream that I gave them a thought, but I would explain to the girl that it was too much on me to have an extra one in the home. I would see that she was nicely situated in some other place and I should be as nice and cordial to her as always. If you could have a party for her and invite several young men whom you thought would be congenial with her it might do much to solve your problem.

But I would get rid of any disturbing factor in my home.

Yours,
LOUISA.

TIME PAYMENTS ON TIRES IS HELPFUL

"A form of dealer-customer relationship that is growing in favor more and more during the present decade is time payment selling," in the opinion of the Hefley-Stedman Motor Company, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

"Old concepts of time payment plans have been changed and the average individual is showing a growing appreciation of its benefits," he continued. "Instead of being regarded as a necessary evil, merchants nowadays look on time payments as another service that they have to offer the public and are consequently making these plans more flexible.

"One of the reasons we have inaugurated time payment as a part of our sales program is the fact that it enables the purchaser to obtain the kind of merchandise he needs when he needs it and he can pay for it at his convenience.

"In many cases, where sales are conducted on a cash basis, the customer feels he must purchase a product of less quality than he really prefers. Time payment makes it easy for him to buy a tire he really needs instead of the one he feels he must take by reason of price. This is an advantage to both the consumer and the dealer, because the customer is better satisfied with the performance of the tire and the dealer is able to sell higher quality merchandise.

"Every dollar goes the limit under this plan, and we are glad to be of service to the consumer," Mr. Stedman concluded.

CAN TEXAS AFFORD TO REJECT THE OLD AGE PENSION?

On August 24th the people will say whether Texas shall have an old age pension, and thereby say whether Texas shall receive the Federal Old Age Pension. There are too many years between me and my old age pension for me to think of it from a personal standpoint, but when I think of it from a humane standpoint, I do not see how Texas can afford to reject the Old Age pension. If Texas votes the pension, which is not to exceed $15.00 per month, then she will receive a like amount from the Federal Government. But if Texas rejects it, she will lose the Federal pension, yet we must help pay our part of the Federal Pension that will go to the states that have a pension. This pension would enable thousands of people to buy needed necessities such as groceries, dry goods, medicine, and other necessities of life, an dthey could probably have medical attention that has been needed for years, and could pay debts etc. The ones to receive this pension have reached the age where they won't spend this money foolishly, but will put it in legitimate business channels where it will in turn do good to the country in general.

What are we going to do with the old people? Nobody wants to hire them to work—we had rather have younger people. Even the government will not let anyone over sixty work on the CWA and they pension their employees when they get old. So if the government, the Railways and no one else will give them employment, then what will the man do who has worked all his life, paid taxes to keep the government up, and then through some misfortune such as sickness or other things that he could not avoid, has reached old age without accumulating much of the world's goods to care for him at that time? Some say, send them to the poor farm. Well, it will cost the tax payers at least $15.00 per month, and besides they will not get the $15.00 per month from the government. A man told me he knew a man who, if he got the pension, would drink it up, but our legislature has so provided that no habitual drunk or habitual criminal can receive the pension. So it will do a two fold good there, for it will reform that man or he will not be eligible to receive the pension. The man that does not need this little $25.00 or $30.00 per month will not feel the affect either way, it will not be so much help, nor will it hurt him, but the ones who need it will be benefitted so much. As I see it, it is the most equitable way to care for the aged needy.

It certainly must be a good thing, for I see where the Republicans have just adopted it in their platform for the 1936 campaign, but the Democrats have beat them to it.

So let our people turn out on August 24th and give this amendment the same overwhelming majority as did the house of representatives which out of a hundred and fifty members only six voted against it. And in Congress, the Senate was 76 for it to 6 against it. And if we adopt this amendment, by so doing, we will say to our President, we are with him, as he has strongly advocated the old age pension.
